CTC Coventry & CTC Rugby - Weekly Bulletin

10th March 2021

Last Monday was International Women's Day and the women of the club have had a busy week.

Nearly everyone was out in single or pairs rides, pictured here.

They had a Zoom meeting on Monday evening and the main discussions included Bike Week ((30th May- 5th June ) and the Women's festival of Cycling 17th July - 1st August.

There is more information on our website.

The Transport Museum also published an article about Edie Atkins on facebook. The article can be downloaded here.

Peter Milton sent me this picture of an updated theme in Claverdon.

Adam Tranter launched a 15-minute film last week about cycling in Coventry, where the bicycle was invented and nearly forgotten. You can see it here. He is also drawing our attention to the proposed Binley Cycleway Scheme, which is of high quality - more information can be seen here. There is also an opportunity to show support for the scheme. Two more consultations will be coming up soon for Lynchgate Road to join up the University campus with Charter Ave and a scheme on the Foleshill Road.

The Parade in Leamington has been closed to motor traffic for sometime and there is a proposal to make the closure permanent and you can support this by visiting the website here.

As usual there are changes arising from HS2 work: you might be interested to read about some archaeological excavations at Lower Radbourne where one of the Warwickshire lost villages has been found.

There is also some news about traffic diversions in the Long Itchington area to enable a tunnel boring machine to be assembled prior to starting work on a mile long tunnel.

The saga of the Kenilworth Greenway at Burton Green continues - it seems that half the work comes under Warwick District Council's jurisdiction and the other half under Solihull. This may explain, but not justify, the ineffective way its been handled. George Riches is providing more information on our website. It might be useful to send comments to both Warwick and Solihull Councils.

Sustrans are promoting the conversion of the Lias Line from Birdingbury to Offchurch into a cycleway. More information about the construction can be downloaded here.

And finally here is the answer to last week's puzzle plus another teaser from Dave Hearn:

We are near Churchover where the road fords the River Swift.

This tall Guide Post stands between Chipping Camden & Broadway at the junction of the A44 & B4081 and is a replica of the original. Its height is simply as a convenience for carriage drivers back in the day.

Question 1      Who designed and built the Guide Post?

Question 2      In which year was the original erected?
